DRAMATIC CLUB DRIVE REACHES 208 MEMBERSHIP

First One Act Plays to Be Given October 23 and 24.

DRIVE CLOSES AT NOON TOMORROW

"Wurzel - Flummery" and "The Open Door" First Plays.

The drive for membership in the Dramatic club has reached the 208 mark as we go to press. The canvassing of the college dormitories and fraternity houses will continue until tomorrow noon. All those who have not already been approached or who have delayed in buying tickets will be visited tonight. The goal for membership is 500 so with 292 more to be obtained, the committee selling tickets will be working hard to reach the goal.

The first two one act plays of the season will be presented Thursday and Friday, October 23 and 24. "Wurzel-Flummery" by A. A. Milne will be given, and also a short play by Alfred Sutro entitled "The Open Door".

The 1930 Dramatic club drive formerally opened with an appeal by Geraldine Griffin '31 ,in chapel Monday. Miss Griffin pointed out the several benefits of membership. Besides the privilege of attending all productions of the club, the member may engage in one of the many phases of production work. The purchaser of a ticket should fill out the activities card which is detached and filed by the club. The following activities are listed: acting, make-up, properties, lighting, prompting, scenery, costumes, stage hand and stage carpentry.

The individual should select the activity which he feels will be best adapted to his abilities and experience, and in which he is most interested.

In previous years the response on the part of the men has been lower than that of the women. A special effort will be made to thoroughly canvass the men's side of the hill and more cooperation from that direction is expected.

A committee of eight captains has organized and is directing the sale of

Middlebury Educators Dine in Rutland Oct. 9

The flemish room of the Berwick hotel in Rutland was the scene, last Thursday evening, of a get-together of Middlebury people engaged in teaching and educational administration in Vermont, who were attending the state teachers' convention.

The Berwick management supplied an excellent roast turkey dinner which helped materially toward the enjoyment of the occasion.

President Moody was the speaker of the evening and gave a brief account of the present state of affairs at the college.

New movies of the college were shown by E. J. Wiley, director of admissions and personnel, who also presided at the dinner and introduced to the gathering: Mr. B. L. Stafford '01, member of the board of trustees; W. H. Carter '10, president of the state teachers association and H. E. Hollister '17, the newly elected principal of St. Johnsbury academy.

Songs of the college were played by Mrs. Wiley '12, and sung under the leadership of Prof. C. A. Adams, of the class of '95.

Among those attending the dinner were the following: Prof. C. A. Adams '95, Helen Bailey '28, Dorothea Bellrose '26, E. L. Bigelow '13, Anna S.

Gerald E. Thayer of Witherbee, N. Y.

THAYER HEADS '31 CLASS OFFICERS

Marjorie Frye is Elected Vice-President; Tweedy, Treasurer, as Result of Recent Senior Meetings.

Gerald E. Thayer of Witherbee, New York, was elected president of the class of 1931 at a meeting of the senior class in Warner Hemicycle October 8.

Two days later Marjorie E. Frye of Leicester, Massachusetts, was chosen vice-president. John N. Tweedy of Glenbrook, Connecticut, is the new senior class treasurer.

In his freshman year Mr. Thayer won numerals both in football and cross country, and established his reputation as one of the Panther's outstanding runners. Besides winning two letters in track, interfraternity basketball has also proved his athletic ability. He was treasurer of his sophomore class. Last year Mr. Thayer was assistant manager of the Dramatic club, chairman of the Junior Week play committee, and was elected business manager of the CAMPUS. He is a member of the Student council, Blue Key, Waubanakee, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Miss Frye has been active in the Y. W. C. A. during her three years at Middleury, was a candidate for the CAMPUS staff during her first two years and a member of the Spanish club her sophomore year. In dramatics she is a member of Wig and Pen. English club and Debating club work show her interest in literary activities. Miss Frye was women's class editor of the 1931 Kaleidoscope and is affiliated with Sigma Kappa.

The new treasurer, Mr. Tweedy, won freshman football numerals and has since been on the varsity squad. He has played interfraternity baseball and is a member of the Spanish and Dramatic clubs. In the capacity of chairman of the 1931 Soph Hop he has served his class in an official position before. Mr. Tweedy is a member of Blue Key and Chi Psi fraternity.

Playday Sponsored By W. A. A. Saturday

The W. A. A. of Middlebury College will sponsor a Playday, Saturday, October 18. The purpose of the day is to establish a good intercollegiate athletic relationship. Invitations have been sent to the University of Vermont and to St. Lawrence university asking that they send large delegations, who may actively participate in the program of sports. The events will begin at two o'clock and will continue thruout the afternoon, in the following order:

Hockey, 2 p. m., Volleyball, 2 p. m., Tennis, 3:30 p. m., Basketball, 4 p. m.

An unusual feature of the day will be the mixed teams; teams will be composed of women of the three colleges playing together. It is hoped that the Middlebury women will give the W. A. A. their entire support and endeavor to make the day an outstanding success.

WOMEN'S RUSHING ENDS WITH FORTY-FIVE NEW PLEDGES

Kappa Kappa Gamma Heads the List With Eleven Women Pledged.

SIGMA KAPPA IS SECOND WITH TEN

Alpha Xi Delta Takes Nine, Tri-Delta Seven, Phi Mu and Pi Phi Four.

Rushing in the women's college ended last Thursday with forty-five women pledged to the various sororities.

Kappa Kappa Gamma led with eleven pledges while Sigma Kappa was second with ten. Alpha Xi Delta pledged nine and Delta Delta Delta seven. Pi Beta Phi and Phi Mu each took four.

The pledges are:

NOTICE TO JUNIORS

Mr. Vantine will be unable to remain in Middlebury after 12:30 Thursday. All students who have appointments scheduled for Thursday afternoon or evening must report sometime today or tomorrow morning at Hepburn Social Hall to have their pictures taken. With the aid of two assistants Mr. Vantine finds that he can take more pictures than one every ten minutes.

YEAR BOOK STARTS CIRCULATION DRIVE

1932 Kaleidoscope Begins Campaign to Enlarge Subscription List Next Week; Photography Work Progressing.

An intense circulation drive will be undertaken next week by the 1932 Kaleidoscope board. Twelve men and women under the direction of James Olson and Marian Singiser will make a complete canvass of the college.

The first drive, held during registration, was very successful and more subscriptions were obtained than is ordinarily the case at that time of year. But there are still some students who have not as yet paid their initial deposit, and it is for their benefit that this drive is being held. This will probably be the final organized circulation campaign and students are advised to subscribe now as orders will not be accepted after material starts going to the printers.

The circulation staff expects to have little trouble in obtaining a large number of subscriptions, because of the many innovations which the editors are promising in the new book. In drawing up the plan of the 1932 Kaleidoscope, the policy of having less reading material and more photographs has been followed. It has been found that in general students prefer a pictorial review of the college year rather than a great amount of written material.

Warren Kay Vantine Studios of Boston are in Middlebury this week taking the first pictures for the book. On Sunday some of the group pictures were taken on the steps of Mead Memorial Chapel. The personnel of many organizations is not as yet complete so the photographers will again visit Middlebury later in the year to finish this work.

Mr. Vantine is personally taking all the individual pictures of the members of the faculty and junior class. Although this studio is the largest college photographer in New England, this is the only college which Mr. Vantine visits himself.

Juniors must make all orders of pictures at the time of their sittings, thus

Material for Saxonian Story Contest Due Dec. 15

The Saxonian short story contest closes December 15. Contributions for the contest should be given to Jilda Pacheco '31, or to some member of the board before that date.

Manuscripts for the contest must be typed, plainly marked "Saxonian short story contest" and signed with a pen name.

The real name of the writer must be placed in an envelope with the pen name on the outside.

The judges for the contest are professors R. L. Cook, H. G. Owen and L. V. Hammond. The prizes will be awarded as follows: first prize, $25, second prize, $15, and third prize, $10.

HARRIERS DEFEAT WILLIAMS 32-23 IN OPENING MEET

Middlebury Surprises by Conquering Favored Visitors.

WILLIAMS MAN IS FIRST; TIME SLOW

Perrin and Harwood of Middlebury Come in Second and Third.

Defeating Williams, 32-23, Saturday afternoon, on the local course, the Middlebury cross country team hung up the first Blue and White athletic victory of the present college year. The much heralded Purple team arrived with apparent intention of repeating their victory of last year.

However, the two outstanding men of the Williams team, Captain Goodbody and Guernsey, did not run and Middlebury was better than expected. Soffern of Williams took first place with the time of 35 minutes, 7½ seconds, but Middlebury placed five men out of the next six.

Captain Perrin and Harwood were the first Middlebury men to complete the six mile course which started in front of he D. K. E. house and ended in back of Starr Hall. Following them was Ingraham of Williams and Cox, Ingersoll, and Pratt of Middlebury.

Perhaps the most outstanding man on the Middlebury team, even though he placed but sixth, was Ingersoll. Ingersoll was running in his first meet, having come out for cross country for the first time this year. He did not go out for freshman cross country. Another outstanding feature of the race was the finish staged by the thirteenth and fourteenth men. Johnson of Williams and Young of Middlebury ran neck and neck for the last 500 yards until Johnson nosed out Young in the final 25 yards.

The day was very warm which caused the time to be considerably slower than it would have been ordinarily.

The results of the race were: 1-Soffern, W; 2-Perrin, M; 3-Harwood, M; 4-Ingraham, W; 5-Cox, M; 6-Ingersoll, M; 7-Pratt, M; 8-Fisher, W; 9-Harris, W; 10-Tipper, W; 11-Kimball, M; 12-Burnett, W; 13-Johnson, W; 14-Young, M.

Professor Cady Gives First Library Reading

Prof. Frank W. Cady presided over the first of the series of seven readings to be given during the college year. The reading was held in the Abernethy room of the library on Friday, October 10, at 4:30, and was well attended by the college students.

Much to the enjoyment of his audience, Professor Cady chose as his subject Mark Twain's immortal "Huckleberry Finn". The greater part of those present had not read "Huck" for many years and his sympathetic understanding as revealed in the reading of it, brought to all the realization that their childhood favorite is indeed a literary masterpiece.

Professor Cady read seven of his own favorite selections from the book. They ranged from the story of Huck's exile with Jim, the runaway nigger, to "The Duke's" famous paraphrase of Hamlet's soliloquy, and the great amusement of the audience gave evidence to the fact that five or fifty, "Huckleberry Finn" is still a most enjoyable book.

Professor Cady accompanied his reading with informal remarks concerning his own appreciation of the book.

THAT OLD MIDD SPIRIT.

Saturday afternoon the Middlebury football team was defeated in a listless game. Those who saw the contest were surprised not so much at the defeat as at the attitude of the student body that accompanied it. No one seemed to care—no one seemed keyed up before the game, or downcast afterwards at the outcome.

But to anyone who studies the mental attitude of colleges, and understands that intangible thing called "college spirit," the realization becomes increasingly plain that the M. A. C. game was not lost on Porter Field Saturday afternoon. Victory was chalked up for the visitors before they ever arrived in Middlebury. A student body that expects its football team to lose will invariably find that expectation fulfilled; a student body that goes down to Porter Field with nothing more than a nonchalant curiosity to see who will win and in what manner, will invariably find that the opponents will win because they want to.

"If our boys don't lose by more than twenty points, they'll be pretty good". This has been the general attitude of the college thus far during the season. Such an atmosphere makes itself felt very strongly. Nowhere was it in greater evidence than at the rally Friday evening. Most of the men there (particularly upperclassmen) seemed to consider it their part to affect an attitude of cold aloofness from the proceedings—to show their maturity and sophistication by not "falling for" this high school stuff that is called "spirit".

And with this condition prevailing—that of no one giving a damn (what the hell's the difference, anyway?)—the chief purpose of college athletics is fast fading away into the distance and will soon be forgotten. For football does not exist at Middlebury or at any other self respecting college simply for the purpose of developing a team of big muscle men who can overcome opponents by sheer force of brute strength. Its true purpose is two-fold: first to train the individual to play hard and play fair, and never give up while there is a fighting chance left, whether the game be football or life; second to teach the student body one of the highest values that exists—group loyalty. And in this light the spirit (the very thing that Middlebury seems to be most sorely without today) becomes the valuable thing, the chief thing to be gained from the whole program.

At this point you interrupt, saying "let the team win a few games, then the spirit will show itself". If that be the truth, then the situation is even worse. For what is this "Middlebury spirit" that can show itself only when the sun shines. Any fool can yell when his team scores a point a minute, but it takes a real man to stick with his team when it loses.

Perhaps the loss of the Williams and Columbia games was inevitable, but if the student body had not decided to quit after those two setbacks, last Saturday's encounter would have been a victory.

Only a hard and sudden "snapping out of it" by the entire college can start things going again in the right direction. The voice of the quitter with his unconcerned "Oh, what of it? I've given them up long ago" must be replaced by the words of those who take a defeat to heart—so much to heart that they employ every means in their power to prevent a recurrence the next week. After all, Middlbury's football team alone does not play the games; it's Middlebury College with the team its chosen representatives. And Middlebury College means everybody—even you who now laugh at "spirit". rk

BOOKS

"In the Days of Bicycles and Bustles" by R. D. Blumenfeld, New York, Brewer & Warren, $3.50.

Despite the inappropriate title, this book of memoirs which is composed almost entirely of excerpts from R. D. Blumenfeld's diaries, is one of the most interesting we have read in many a moon.

As London correspondent for the New York Herald, and later as managing editor of the London Daily News, Mr. Blumenfeld has had ample opportunities to see and meet most of the great and the near-great of the past generation.

In the earlier part of the book we see Victoria growing old none too gracefully and are amused to see the impatience of Edward to ascend the throne. We also watch the troubles of those two great enimies: Gladstone and Disraeli, and hear accounts of the Russo-Turkish war.

Then, with the turn of the century, the pages of the book are filled with the stupid political troubles which surround one of the greatest mistakes of modern times—the Boer war. From this point, the book moves rapidly through the decade preceeding the world war and ends with Blumenfeld's entry made late on the night of August 4, 1914.

There are many amusing incidents in the book. For instance there is the account of how Patti forgot the words of "Home Sweet Home" while singing her 98th farewell concert. There is also the story of Roddy Owen of the Royal Irish fusiliers who shaved his moustache off and was ordered not to appear moustacheless on parade. So the next day he "rode out in front of his squadron decorated with an enormous red false moustache like a fox's brush."

For all those who are interested in modern history, and for all those who have a weakness for the "dear, dim, decadent Victorian Era", as well as for the rest of us who enjoy getting an eyefull from the back-staircase of history, the book offers one of the most enjoyable experiences of the season. Don't miss it!

"Purified Proverbs and Censored Quotations"

New York, The Amour Press, $1.00.

Whatever the primary intentions of this slender little book may have been, it has succeeded excellently in one thing: that of showing the absolute tomfoolery of comstockery. By taking such well-known quotations as "My heart leaps up when I behold a rainbow in the sky" and by blotting out a few harmless words, the whole takes on an atmosphere of thinly veiled pornography.

Thus it is, the editors have shown what fools these mortals be who put pants on Mercury or a beach-coat on Venus for modesty's sake. There is more to "Purified Proverbs and Censored Quotations" than would appear on the surface.

"Party Husband"

by Geoffrey Barnes, New York Alfred A .King & Co., $1.50.

According to the jacket of this novel, Mr. Barnes is a well-known N'Yoiker who is writing under a pen name. Doubtlessly, this is more or less true for he uses the word "chistler" and mentions the clean book bill, and knows the 54th Street speakeasies.

The plot is rather strongly reminiscent of Katherine Brush's success of last season "Young Man of Manhattan". There is the same young wife who does some writing and works for a publisher and the same young man (only he works for a broadcasting station in this case). There is the same apartment, the same fights, and the same reconciliations.

However, this book differs in that many of the things are said that Miss Brush left unsaid, and by the fact that the abnormal "geniuses" of Greenwich Village are dragged in and out of the various scenes.

Perhaps the best scene in the book is the description of the home of Barron the famous mural painter. Here the author has forgotten his sophistication and cynicism and has given us one of

SHREDS AND PATCHES

Last Sunday at Bread Loaf we beheld what we first believed was a stranded Staten Island Ferry. Upon closer scrutiny, we discovered that it was merely an extension on the chimney of the new library. It seems that the blasted thing refused to draw this summer so an extra twelve feet of iron tubing was added to the top of the chimney. Just another example of the sacrifice of the esthetic for the more practical features of architecture.

We are wondering if the bus which took the frosh team to Clarkson would have broken down on the return trip if the boys hadn't overloaded it with scrap iron and other junk.

If the frosh are delayed like that again, we seriously hope Coach Hessler will keep them far, far away from the campus until at least 10:00 a. m. as there is nothing more precious than sleep Sunday mornings.

If members of Delta Kappa Epsilon saw Williams Haines in "Way Out West" at the local cimena cathedral the other night, we expect they received some excellent inspirations for hell week.

It was conclusively shown last week that there is some use for the barn behind one of the local fraternity houses.

Then there was the professor who was so fond of nature that he carried chunks of it home with him in the tonneau of his car in the form of boulders.

Paderewski arrived last week in New York for another concert tour. We admit his music is excellent, but we would enjoy talking about him more if his name was Jones or something like that. We could at least pronounce his name then.

We hate to pick on the library, but we do feel that it is a good policy to warn each and every student to take a can of Flit and a sprayer along with him If he really intends to study. We've tried Citronella, but the flies seemed attracted by it.

Heard at the football game: "Yes-you see, the idea is for one side to take the ball ten yards—I think it's ten, it may be five or twenty—well, as I was saying, the boys take it down ten yards. Well, if they make the ten yards in a certain number of plays, or if they've failed to (I've forgotten which) then they give the ball—the football, I mean, to the other side and they try to do the same thing. Well, if they can't do it either, then the team that had the ball first takes it and kicks it to—What's that Mary? You want to know which team is Middlebury's? Oh now, don't interrupt me with such trifles. Now as I was saying, the second team takes the ball and then—No, no, no, I mean the first team—well anyway, you know how it is." Yes, you're right, it's just another alumnus explaining the game to the wife.

Speaking about football, we shouldn't cry about our defeat Saturday: Princeton and Yale were beaten too, weren't they?

We were scolded the other day because we omitted an "l" from Rudy's name in this column last week. Oh well, it would be permissable to spell 'drip' with two 'p's' wouldn't it?

We thought we must be suffering from delirium tremens Saturday when we saw three separate and distinct drum majors in front of the band. We were told that there actually were three and looked again and lo! Abou Ben Adem led all the rest.

No, Imogene, the proposed merger of the local churches does not include our Sunday chapel service.

Speaking of chapel, a certain senior maintains that the bridge in the parable should not have been a steel one, but one of the Vermont covered variety.

We wish to thank Ed Lockwood for the excellent work he did as caddy for the football team Saturday afternoon. Incidentally Ed was mistaken by a

NOTICE

The college administration announces a holiday, Saturday October 25, in order that students may attend the Norwich-Middlebury football game without inconvenience.

CAMPUS NOTICE

The CAMPUS regrets an error that appeared in the issue of October 1, to the effect that Miss Eleanor M. Sprague was filling Miss Dutton's position in the dietary department of the college.

The article should have stated that Miss Mary Bowles is in charge of the work in Miss Dutton's absence, and Miss Sprague is assisting Miss Bowles.

Wife of Athletic Director Dies Monday at Troy, N. Y.

Mrs. Arthur M. Brown died Monday evening at five o'clock at the Samaritan hospital in Troy, New York, after an illness of three months' duration.

The death of Mrs. Brown, who was the wife of the college director of athletics, has aroused much sympathy among their many friends and aquaintances on the faculty and in the student body.

Pansy Hull Brown, daughter of Dr. John Hull of Williamstown, Mass., was born in Berlin, N. Y., March 15, 1886.

Mrs. Brown is survived by her husband, Arthur M. Brown, a daughter, Elizabeth G., a student in the class of '34, a son, John H.; also a sister, Mrs. Park Cannedy of North Adams, and a brother, Dr. A. J. Hull of Troy.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of her brother at 3 Eaton Road, Troy, from where the body will be taken to Williamstown, Massachusetts, for burial.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

With an enrollment of 7,879 students, Harvard sets a new high record for the greatest number of students registering the first day. Last year on the corresponding date the total was 7,802. Of the total, 3,217 were undergraduates, while the remainder belonged to the law and business schools, or other graduate departments.

Recent revelations in the Harvard Crimson bring out the fact that 57 per cent of the Radcliffe graduates who marry, take Harvard men for their husbands. However this is not as bad as it might be, as 95 per cent of the Radcliffe graduates do not marry at all.

In an address before the students of Barnard College, Dr. Shirley Wynne, Health Commissioner of New York City, made the observation that most people in New York are spending more for chewing gum every year than they do for health.

WORLD IS SEEKING REALITY IN RELIGION

Spiritual Experience Necessary to Faith Says Rev. Brown.

The need of personal spiritual experience to possess real religious faith was emphasized by the Rev. J. Graydon Brown of Rutland who spoke at Sunday vespers, October 12. He cited the inadequacy of intellect alone as a means of understanding Christ and living a Christian life.

He said in part: "All the world is seeking the man who knows, who knows in religion not as the Scribes and Pharisees who quoted others, but as Jesus who spoke from the richness of his own experience. He spoke with authority. Truth fell from His lips with freshness which amazed His hearers and convinced them. We all want reality. Helen Keller wrote to Phillips Brooks 'Mr. Brooks, what do you know about God?' This is the question all the world asks. Did He ever walk with you on the lonely road? Did He answer your prayers? Is He a living reality to you?

"Paul the Apostle was a man who knew God. He said, 'I know whom I believed.' Intellect alone could not win the world to Christianity. Paul failed at Athens when he preached to the Greeks from a purely mental point of view, but he succeeded at Corinth when he told simply and sincerely of his experience on the road to Damascus and of the Christ who died that men might live. He realized the futility of trying to put spiritual experience into words; He did not mean that mere intelligence would perceive the truth. Did He mean by this that people who are religious must not have reason and logic? Certainly not. The Bible says, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy mind—'. The leaders of the faith all had remarkable minds. Paul, Calvin, Wesley, Jonathan Edwards were all men of intellectual brilliance.

"Yet intelligence is not enough to apprehend religious truths. Mathematics is a purely intellectual science until we apply it to everyday problems, and then sympathy and insight enter in. There used to exist an idea that the mind was like a blank sheet of paper on which bare facts were registered, but we know now that facts are influenced by prejudices, that there is no such thing as impersonal thinking, because our thoughts are so motivated by the complexities of our personalities. To intimately and thoroughly understand a person we must be in affectionate sympathy with him.

"Creeds and doctrines have arisen out of spiritual experience. After the disciples had lived with Jesus and been deeply influenced by him they tried to explain their feelings. After Paul met Jesus on the Damascus road he began to feel new strength and he began to preach the Gospel. First, then, comes the experience and next the doctrine. To understand doctrines we need to have had spiritual experience ourselves.

"Religion is made up of external authority, the teachings and doctrines of others, and of internal authority, our own spiritual experience. We begin with the first, the 'faith in somebody else's faith' but we should add the other. The people who are most disturbed about religion today are the ones who have never progressed beyond the first. We cannot possess the conviction that Paul felt until we stake everything on the hypothesis, 'I am the way of the truth and the light', and until we start living the life that Christ taught. In this way only can we achieve the clear, unflinching faith that the great Apostle had when he said, 'I know whom I have believed.'"

Informal at Gymnasium is Well Attended

An informal was held in the McCullough gymnasium Saturday night under the auspices of the "M" club. This event was especially well attended, about 90 couples being present. The music was furnished by the seven piece Black Panther orchestra. Professor and Mrs. Perley Perkins and Professor and Mrs. Russell Sholes were chaperons.

Albany Alumni to Hold Fall Dinner and Reunion

The Middlebury Alumni club of the capital district which includes Albany, N. Y., and vicinity, is planning to hold its fall dinner the evening of October 24 at 6:30 p. m. at the Hendrick Hudson Hotel in Troy, N. Y.

E. J. Wiley, director of admissions and personnel of the college, will be the speaker and will show the new movies of the college.

As the teachers' convention of this district is to be held in Troy October 23 and 24 it is hoped that as many as can do so will take this opportunity of greeting again their friends of college days.

Reservations made so far indicate that this will be one of the biggest get-togethers of Middlebury people in this section.

Elba Henry, Former Head of Publicity Here, Dies

Funeral services for Elba A. Henry, 32, editor of the Burlington News, who died early Sunday morning from angina pectoris following a short illness at the DeGoesbriand hospital, were held yesterday morning from the Church of Christ the King in Rutland.

Mr. Henry, a former member of the Rutland Herald editorial staff, was born in Cassville, Quebec, August 22, 1898, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henry, now of Raynham Center, Mass. He was educated in the public schools of Derby and Derby academy, and attended the New Bedford Textile school, New Bedford, Mass. He was a graduate nurse of the Massachusetts General hospital. Besides his newspaper work for the Herald and the Burlington News, he was Publicity Director at Middlebury College in 1928.

He is survived by his parents, a sister, Mrs. Cecil Goodrich, and his grand father, Anson Heath, all of Raynham Center, Mass.

Commenting upon the death of Mr. Henry, the Burlington Free Press for Monday, October 13 spoke as follows:

"In the short space of time that Elba A. Henry, whose death occurred yesterday morning, has been connected with the editorial staff of the Daily News, he made many friends thruout the newspaper world, having shown thought and marked ability in the editorials of his paper; and it has been a pleasure to have him as a member of the newspaper fraternity of this city. Mr. Henry's untimely death is to be deeply regretted."

CATALOG OF MEN'S COLLEGE REVISED

New Cover and Many Rewritten Sections Among Features of Present Edition; Considerable New Material Included.

Resplendent in a new cover and with a large part rewritten, the 1930-1931 catalog of the men's college made its appearance last week. Many new features are included in the work, while several unnecessary sections of the old book have been either omitted or cut down. Women's courses, professors, and activities do not appear in the catalog, but will be treated in a subsequent edition.

In contrast to the black print on the blue cover of former years, the present edition appears in a dress of Middlebury blue and white. Calendars for both the present and the coming college years are in the front of the book. A table of contents has been added and the index revised. A cause of considerable confusion and wasted time in the past has been eliminated by the arrangement of the faculty in alphabetical order, while their seniority in rank has been preserved by placing after the name of each professor the date of his coming to Middlebury.

The sections devoted to general information and descriptions of the college buildings have been rewritten, and brought up to date. A list of the college bulletins available for distribution by the editor's office is included, as are lists of undergraduate publications, activities, and organizations.

The names of the students enrolled in the college do not appear, as the student directory now supplies this information. The early appearance of the catalog is largely attributed to the omission of these names; under the past arrangement the work was seldom available before the middle of December.

Copies of the new catalog may be secured from the office of the college editor in south Painter Hall.

Women's Debating Plans Now Being Formulated

Priscilla March '31, manager of the debating club of the women's college, has not yet been able to arrange a definite schedule of debates for the coming season.

However, it is certain that the season will include a debate with Boston university, to be held here in Middlebury. Arrangements are also being made for a debate with Bates college, which has never been included in previous schedules of the club. The questions for debate have not yet been decided on.

About fifteen women, including several members of the freshman class, have expressed the desire to be included in the debating activities of this season, and the club is looking forward to a brilliant year.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA STARTS PRACTICE

With a personnel of thirty-four members the Middlebury College orchestra under the direction of Prof. Alfred Larsen of Burlington, has started practise for the winter concert season. A large proportion of the members have had previous orchestra experience here, so that the director is confident of a finished classical program this year.

Following is the program now being worked on:

Egmont Overture, Beethoven; 1st. Movement 5th Symphony, Beethoven; Rakoczy March, Liszt; Selections from "Rienzi", Wagner; "Shepards Dance and "Torch Dance from "Henry VIII", German; Danse russe Trepak and Danse Chinoise from "Nut Cracker Suite", Tschaikowsky; Andante Molto and Minuetto from "L'Arlesienne" Suite, Bizet; Mazurka from Ballet "Coppelia", Delibes; Marche et Cortege from "La Reine de Saba", Gounod.

The personnel includes:

I Violin: Alice Collins '33, Elizabeth Abell '31, Allyn White '33, Helena Dundas '31, Ralph Locke '31, Janet Schilling '33, Edward Yerovitz '33, Paul Ciavarra '31.

II Violin: Elizabeth Lee '32, Alice Denio '33, Gladys Mountford '33, Evelyn Remick '32, Rachel Heald '33, Anna Tuthill '34, Reginald House '34.

Viola: Frederic Wooster '32.

Violoncello: Sara Harnden '32.

Bass: Philip Carpenter '33.

Flute: Winifred Webster '32, Richard Allen '33.

Piccolo: Winifred Webster '32.

Clarinets: Richard T. McDermott '32, Thomas Miner '32, Alice Heald '33, C. Leigh Ingersoll '33, Dorothy Smith '34, Clifford McClure '34, Marion Jones '32.

LIBRARY ANNOUNCES SPECIAL BULLETIN

Lists Books Contained in the Julian Willis Abernethy Collection of American Literature.

A new bulletin of the Middlebury College library, entitled "A Check List of Books in the Julian Willis Abernethy Library of American Literature" has been announced by Mrs. Harriet S. Potter '15, curator of the Abernethy collection and compiler of the list.

The check list has been compiled to provide the general reader and the student engaged in research with a means of quickly ascertaining what books are contained in the Abernethy library of American literature. In the list are books by famous American authors who have contributed to American literature, and many other companion books containing prefaces, minor contributions, books edited by the author, pamphlets, biographical and critical material, and fugitive items, making one of the most complete libraries of American literature in existence. The list reveals that the greater portion of the collection comprises first editions of great value.

Of special note is the Thoreau material of this collection, which constitutes the largest single unit of the Abernethy library. It is also the largest and most complete group known to exist devoted exclusively to this unique member of the American literati.

Students desiring a copy of the new bulletin may obtain it by enquiring of Mrs. Potter in the Abernethy wing of the college library.

FINE ATTENDANCE AT FOOTBALL RALLY

Coach Beck Speaks of the Difficulties of a Small College; Ben Stewart '10, Points to Middlebury's Progress.

The season's first football rally was held in the gymnasium last Friday night, previous to the M. A. C. encounter. Principal speakers were Coach Beck, Professor Kingsley, Captain Perry, and Ben Stewart '10.

Coach Ben Beck was the first speaker of the evening. After alluding to the fine manner in which the student body had supported the occasion, he went on to cite two very definite means whereby the student body might assist the team. First of all students should create among themselves a desire to have more men on the squad, the present squad being one of the smallest in recent years. The coach said that very few prep school stars come to Middlebury, due to the fact that larger university competition carries so much glamour. This, he said, made it necessary to develop players for the varsity in a short time.

The second means the student body has at its disposal, whereby it may assist, is that of learning the fine points of the game. Students should learn to be observant and give the blocker, who makes possible the spectacular runs, as much credit as the man who actually scores the points.

The coach concluded by stating that there were several minor injuries which would prevent the appearance of the Panther at his best but dispite this fact a well balanced eleven would take the field.

Mr. Ben Stewart '10, prominent local alumnus, was the next speaker on the program. He drew student attention to the fact that when he left twenty years ago there were not nearly as many conveniences as at the present time. The outstanding buildings of the present campus, Mead Chapel, Hepburn Hall, Pearsons, Le Chateau, the gymnasium and the Chemistry building were not in existence. Athletics were not nearly as well supported as at the present time due to the fact that there was a poor athletic field and a coach was obtained for two or possibly three weeks only as a result of popular subscription. Now that the students have all these things which were so sorely lacking at that time, and an enthusiastic alumni which backs every move, it is up to them to direct the future of Middlebury.

Captain Perry spoke briefly on the lack of spirit which was so sorely felt by the team. He stated that a fighting machine would be out there against M. A. C. and needed only student enthusiasm in order to turn in a victory.

Professor Kingsley was the final speaker of the evening. He drove home the fact that athletics were necessary in that they balanced life. It was necessary, he also stated, to recreate while joining in athletics, or the primary purpose would not be achieved. In closing he pointed to the fact that there was no such thing as a "score", due to the fact that the returns of the game would not be in for many years. Anyone could go out and win the game if he had the proper mental attitude, whereas anyone would lose it who had the wrong attitude. In any event there should be no grouches, for, if there were, it was a lost battle.

"Gamaliel Painter's Cane" concluded the rally.

Boston Alumni to Hold Football Dance Saturday

Alumni of the Boston district are looking forward to a big time next Saturday evening when they will hold a football dance in Repertory hall.

The details as to arrangements are given in the letter recently sent out by District President Botsford's committee, to Middlebury people in the vicinity of Boston, as follows:

To all Middlebury Alumni and Friends:

The Middlebury-Boston university football game will begin at 2:30 p. m., on Saturday afternoon, October 18, at Nickerson field, Riverside. If you drive out Commonwealth ave., turn left on to Bourne street, just before reaching Norumbega park, then turn right on to Auburn street and immediately left on to Charles street which goes directly to the field. Boston & Albany trains leave the south station for Riverside at 1:45 and 2:00 p. m. Nickerson field is a two-minute walk from the station. Tickets will be sold at the gate.

Now, we wish to thank more than one hundred of you who replied to our letter about a Middlebury football dance. It has been underwritten successfully, and we are assured of a good attendance. But we want to make it the biggest Middlebury event in Boston, so if your reply has not been mailed, won't you let us know at once? There will be Middlebury movies (new ones, in color) shown by Dean Wiley, music by the Middlebury Black Panther orchestra, a fine dance floor that will accomodate two hundred people, some Paul Jones dances and a balloon dance that will be a lot of fun, an adjoining library where you may play cards, and the cost is $3.00 per couple or $2.00 per person. The committee will appreciate your remittance in advance, —join those who have underwritten the affair and made it possible.

Don't forget, it's an informal Middlebury football dance and reunion at Repertory hall, Boston, at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, October 18. Repertory hall is in the Repertory theatre building on Huntington avenue, between Massachusetts avenue and Gainsborough street. Look for a big Middlebury banner over the street entrance. Let's have the largest Middlebury reunion ever in Boston!

DEBATING SQUAD HOLDS DISCUSSION

Tryouts Meet in Warner Science Hall for Round Table Conference on Debate Question.

The tryouts for the men's varsity debating team met last Thursday evening, under the direction of Coach Perkins, in Warner Science Hall. The debate proposition under discussion was that mechanical and scientific progress do not necessarily represent an advance in civilization. The negative arguments of this question will be upheld Tuesday evening, December 2, by the Middlebury team in their first debate of the season to be held against the Scottish universities union, a two man team from Aberdeen and Glasglow universities.

The visiting team from Scotland will open their American debating tour on the twenty-first of this month against Bates college which is considered to have one of the strongest debate teams in the country. The contest will be broadcasted.

Coach Perkins, in addressing the candidates, stated that every man trying out has an equal opportunity for making the team. In choosing the team the amount of real work that a candidate has done in preparation for the debate as well as his speaking ability will be considered. Trial debates among the candidates will be held in a few weeks time.

At present those trying out for the team include Edward Yerovitz '33, Thomas J. Duffield '33, Anthony G. L. Brackett '33, Aaron Shefkind '33, John T. Boggs '33, Frederick Brink '33, and Giles Chase '32.

Men having varsity experience are Edward Yerovitz, who engaged in five contests last season; Thomas Duffield, who spoke in four contests; Anthony G. L. Brackett and Frederick Brink, who each spoke in one debate.

The next meeting of the debating candidates will be held Thursday evening, October 16, in the Warner Science Hall at seven o'clock.

Freshmen Try Out.

A meeting of all freshmen interested in debating was held directly after chapel last Friday morning. Five men reported to Prof. Perley C. Perkins, head coach of debate.

W. Ransom ("Bill") Rice '26, has changed his address to 424 Third street, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Managers Elected for Women's Hockey

The women's hockey season is now well under way. Two practices have been held each day for the past week with results which promise keen competition for this season. The number of recruits who have reported for practice is as large if not larger than in any recent year, and the class teams are making fine progress.

All of these leaders have been prominent in athletics, either during their course here, or, as in the case of the freshmen, in their preparatory schools. Audria Gardner '31, is the head of hockey this season.

The practices for this week will be held as follows:

Thursday, October 16, Sophomores at 3:30, juniors and seniors at 4:15; Friday seniors at 3:30, juniors at 4:15; Monday, sophomores at 3:30, freshmen at 4:15; Tuesday, freshmen at 3:30, juniors and seniors at 4:15; Wednesday, sophomores at 3:30, frosh at 4:15.

College Band to Play at Boston Game Saturday

The Middlebury College band with forty men making up the ensemble will leave by special bus on Friday morning for Boston.

This year's organization bids fair to be the best that the college has ever had and the band is expected to add much to the spirit of the occasion next Saturday afternoon when Middlebury plays Boston university on Nickerson field.

The band will be under the leadership of Director Joseph F. Lechnyr and in charge of Calvin Affleck '31, manager.

Members of the organization will be lodged in the homes of alumni Friday and Saturday nights and will make the return trip on Sunday.

MASS. AGGIES TAKE MIDDLEBURY INTO CAMP; SCORE 7-0

Scrappy Red and White Team Has Better of Panther Throughout Entire Game; Blue Plays Listless Ball.

Middlebury's 1930 grid team lost its first home game of the season on Porter Field Saturday to Mass. Aggies by a 7 to 0 score. Neither team could muster much weight, but the Aggies made up for their lack of poundage by scrappy play and thoroughly deserved to win the contest as they outplayed the Blue from beginning to end.

The Beckmen can blame their loss on two things—an inability to tackle hard and clean and an utter lack of interference for the ball carriers. Hoyle was the only Blue back who could gain consistantly and even "Steve" was thrown for losses when no interference helped him. The Aggie backs were fast and hard plungers and the Panther defense found them difficult to stop. If it had not been for Thrasher, "all-state" end of 1929, who consistently broke up the Aggie plays, the score might have been higher. The Blue was forced to play without Markowski and Whitman which did not help any.

Middlebury had the first chance to score when after Hardy had punted out of bounds on the Aggie 15 yard line, the M. A. C. offense was smeared for a loss. Holmberg called for a kick. The punt was short and the Panther had the ball on the Aggie 31 yard line. A 15 yard penalty against the Aggies for slugging put the ball in the shadow of the goal posts. Hartrey was smeared on the first play. Bakeman picked up a few yards and then Hartrey was given the ball again. The Blue fullback started for right tackle, cut back and was almost over the goal line when he fumbled and the Aggies recovered on the one yard mark. This was the only real chance the Blue had to score.

The remainder of the first period was dead with neither team able to do much. Near the end of the quarter the Aggies got the ball on their 26 yard line on downs. Led by Holmberg and Hammond, an attack was started which netted two first downs before the period ended.

Starting in the second canto, the Aggies continued to gain and with Holmberg doing some nice plunging made a first down on the Blue 10 yard line. Wood made 4 yards through the line and then Hammond plunged over for a touchdown. A forward pass, Kimball to Holmberg added the extra point and the score was 7 to 0 in favor of the Aggrarians.

Hoyle, who had gone in for Foote in the Blue backfield, tore off some nice gains late in the half and the Middlebury offense perked up a bit, but a fumble cut this advance short on the Aggie 30 yard stripe. Aggies could do nothing and were forced to punt. Panther backs made another advance, but incomplete passes ended this just before the end of the half.

The Aggies had a chance to score early in the second half when Burrington and Cummings blocked Huntington's punt and the ball went outside on the Middlebury 16 yard line. A 15 yard penalty for illegal use of hands on the offense saved this situation as it set the Aggies back so far that they could not make the distance for all of two nice gains and a completed forward pass.

During the remainder of the contest there was little excitement although the Aggies were threatening again near the end of the game. A nice tackle by Thrasher who smeared up a lateral pass play behind the line for a 6 yard loss kept the Aggies at a safe distance. The game ended with the Aggies in possession of the ball on the Middlebury 20 yard line.

The veteran backfield of the Aggies was mighty effective with Holmberg and Hammond outstanding. This Holmberg lad was the scrappiest player on the field and was never downed until five or six men had piled on him. Hoyle ran brilliantly for the Blue and

MIDDLEBURY GRIDMEN JOURNEY TO BOSTON SATURDAY TO GIVE BATTLE TO BOSTON UNIVERSITY TERRIERS

Once more the Middlebury College grid team will journey away from Middlebury when Coach Beck leads his men to Boston to play the Beantown University Saturday at Nickerson Field. The Panther has not played Boston University since 1926 when the Scarlet and White went down to a defeat before the Blue by a margin of one point.

B. U. has a new teaching staff this year in the persons of Coaches Mahaney and Marsters. This Marsters fellow is the great "Al-Point-a-minute" Marsters of Dartmouth fame. The B. U. staff was faced with a squad greatly depleted by graduation and scholastic inelligibility at the first of the season, but new candidates have showed up and the team promises to develop into a fine eleven.

The Terriers have had anything but a successful season thus far, but have been up against teams way out of their class. Army has been the first opponent of the season for the past few years, but next year the B. U. officials have decided to have an easier game for the opener. The Boston officials are making a wise move in trying to get a better balanced schedule and all small colleges would do well to stay within the limits of their class in regards to football opponents.

Marsters has uncovered a coming grid star in the person of Carl Clem. Although Clem had no previous football experience, Marsters has developed him into a fine fullback who will bear watching. He has speed and although fairly light, Clem can do a mean job of line plunging.

Captain Marino and Hootstein, two veterans are again playing in the Terrier backfield. Both of these men are experienced and capable. Marino is a first class field general and Hootstein, although nursing a leg injury, is a fine ball toter.

The Boston line is experienced and while not as heavy as the Williams forward wall, can muster quite a bit of weight. McCullough and Goldman, ends, and Lobel and Stone, tackles, are veterans of last year's varsity. Quinn, a regular from last season and Harrington a star with the Freshmen in 1929 are capable guards while a trio of veterans are on hand for the center position.

Coach Beck is faced with injuries and his lineup for the Boston game is unknown. Riccio injured his leg severely in the Mass. Aggie game and will be unable to make the trip. Zuck is in the hospital under observation with a possible case of appendicitis. The rest of the men who played against the Aggies are all more or less bruised up.

Markowski and Bullukian, quarterbacks, are still nursing injuries and their playing is doubtful. Thrasher, who has been playing wonderful football at end is pretty well bunged up and Whitman is still on the crippled list. With these injuries staring him in the face, Coach Beck is undecided as to who will start the Boston game, but it is probable that replacements will play much of the contest.

While neither team has done much thus far this season, the Terriers have a slight edge over the Panther team in the line of veterans. The Boston eleven has some fine men left over from last year and with injuries making the play of the Blue regulars uncertain, experience will play a big part in the result of the game Saturday.

One thing is certain—and that is that the Panther team will have to play much better football than it did against the Aggies in order to come home victorious from Boston. The Terriers under Coaches Marsters and Mahaney have been developing rapidly and now that the games with opponents way out of their class are over, the Bostonians should produce a successful eleven. The game promises to be a hard fought affair with the Terriers having a slight edge.

MIDDLEBURY FRESHMAN FOOTBALL TEAM DEFEATED BY CLARKSON 19-0

The Middlebury freshmen football team lost to Clarkson Tech frosh by a score of 19 to 0 in their opening game of the season at Snell field.

Outweighed and outplayed by a more experienced team, the Panther freshmen had little opportunity to score except on a single occasion late in the second quarter when the blue and white backs began a steady march from their opponents' twenty yard line only to lose the ball on downs eight yards from the goal line. Clarkson scored their touchdowns in each of the first three quarters.

The chief factor in Clarkson's victory was their line, which weighed over an average of 190 pounds per man, and outweighed the Middlebury forwards by 20 pounds. The Panther team fought hard throughout the contest, but could not do much on the offensive inasmuch as they had only been drilled in four or five fundamental plays.

Anderson, Middlebury left half back, gave Clarkson a scare when he intercepted a forward pass during the first half and ran sixty yards toward his opponents' goal line before being tackled. Middlebury might have had a touchdown at that point if the blue and white quarterback had been successful in taking out the last man between Anderson and the goal line. Williams showed exceptional ability as a punter, getting off several kicks that were close to sixty yards, Fallon and Riccio also went well in the backfield showing plenty of promise of ground gaining ability as soon as their interference begins to function.

Fallon Runs Back Kick.

Clarkson kicked off to Middlebury to start the game, Fallon receiving the ball on his ten yard line and returning it to his thirty yard line before being tackled. Four successive running plays netted Middlebury only two yards, and Williams was forced to kick. He got off a beautiful punt that sailed sixty yards to Clarkson's twenty yard line, but Hutterman ran it back to the center of the field. Clarkson's offense immediately got under way and marched steadily down the field with Hutterman, Toromey, and Patrauski gaining most of the yardage. Toromey went over the Middlebury goal line from the eight yard line for the first touchdown. The point after touchdown failed. Score, Clarkson Tech frosh 6, Middlebury frosh 0.

Clarkson again kicked to Middlebury and Williams ran the ball back to his own forty yard line. The blue and white line again failed to open holes for the backs, and Williams was forced to kick. Hutterman took the kick on his twenty yard line, and ran it back to the thirty-five marker. On the first play, Patrauski broke away for twenty yards, and Toromey followed his run with twenty yards more. A short pass brought the ball to Middlebury's thirteen yard line from where Hutterman scored on an off-tackle play. Score, Clarkson Tech frosh 12, Middlebury frosh 0.

Anderson Intercepts Pass.

Middlebury received Clarkson's kickoff on their twenty yard line, and Riccio ran it back to his forty yard line. Once again, the Panther yearlings were unable to pierce the Clarkson line, and they lost the ball on downs on their forty-eight yard line. Clarkson began another advance toward the Middlebury goal line which ended when Anderson intercepted a pass on his twenty yard line and ran it back to Clarkson's twenty-three yard line before being tackled by Hutterman. Two line bucks and a pass netted the blue and white twelve yards but Clarkson finally regained the ball on their eight yard line. As the half ended Clarkson had advanced to the center of the field on straight running plays.

Foote '31 and Davis '32 Chosen "M" Club Officers

George Foote '31 and William E. Davis '32 were chosen president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the "M" club at a meeting of that organization held in Hepburn Social hall Monday evening.

Mr. Foote, the newly elected president, is a member of the varsity football team, having made a letter in that sport last fall, and was captain of hockey his junior year. He was a nominee for president of the Undergraduate association, is president of Waubanakee, and a member of Blue Key and Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Mr. Davis is also a football player, having been a freshman numeral man, and a varsity letter man his sophomore year. He is a member of Chi Psi.

Freshman Football Team to Play Clark School Saturday in First Home Game

The Middlebury freshman football team will meet Clark school of Hanover at Porter field this Saturday in the first frosh home game of the year.

Clark school is primarily a prep school for students wishing to enter Dartmouth, and consequently their teams are made up of athletes who will some day star on the big green team from Hanover. In past years they have usually had the edge over the Panther yearling squads, and predictions as to the outcome of Saturday's encounter will have to remain pessimistic if the disastrous result of Saturday's game with the Clarkson Tech frosh may be taken as the basis of criticism.

Coach Hessler has been hard at work pointing out and ironing out the faults of his men as revealed in the Clarkson encounter. A weak charging line seemed to cause most of the damage, and offset some of the excellent displays of the backfield. The Panther backfield has four good men in Williams, Anderson, Fallon and Riccio. Every man of the quartet is a triple threat man showing good ability at either punting, passing or running. Williams, in particular, is an outstanding kicker and his punts in the Clarkson game compared favorably with those of any star.

In their initial encounter of the season, the blue and white frosh team showed plenty of the pep and spirit that has always characterized Hessler's teams. They were outweighed by Clarkson, twenty pounds to the man, and furthermore, it was Clarkson's third game of the season and Midd's first. Too much could not be expected of the backfield as they had only been drilled in four or five fundamental plays, and too much could not be expected from the line because of the superior bulk of their opponents, whose line averaged 190 pounds.

Now that the Panther Frosh have been initiated into the realms of collegiate football, perhaps the outcome of this Saturday's encounter may surprise Clark school.

PANTHER TEAM TO OPPOSE ST. STEPHEN'S

Little is Known of Next Week's Cross Country Opponents Who Are to Be Met at Annandale.

The Middlebury cross country team will compete in its second dual meet next Saturday, October 18, at St. Stephen's. It is not as yet definitely known whether there will be more time trials before this meet or whether the same team which met Williams will oppose St. Stephen's.

The squad is considerably hampered by the loss of James Sears, '33. Sears recently placed first in the time trials by a large margin, but is unable to run on account of scholarship. His absence is felt more keenly due to the loss of Dalton, last year's captain and star, by graduation.

Little is known about the St. Stephen's team, so the Panther runners will be up against practically unknown odds Saturday. The only information available is that next week's opponents were easily defeated by last year's team, 35-20. This offers encouragement to the Panther runners.

After the St. Stephen's meet, the cross country team wi llrun at Norwich cross country team will run at Norwich Springfield here November 1, R. P. I. there November 8, and Vermont here November 15.

TENNIS TITLE WON BY ALLEN FLAGG '34

Hendrie Defeated in Straight Sets in Finals for College Championship.

Allen Flagg '34, won the men's tennis championship by defeating Edwin Hendrie '33, in three straight sets 9-7, 6-3, 6-1. Hendrie had gained the finals by eliminating Volkmar 6-4, 6-1.

Both men played brilliantly, making some remarkably fine placements and seemingly impossible "gets". Hendrie was not able to fathom the left handed service of Flagg and only broke through Flagg's service four times in the entire match. The first set was the most closely contested of the three, both men playing hard, each one having a chance at different stages to win set point. The second and third sets were equally hard fought but Flagg's advantage became clearer as the games rolled on.

Hendrie started out auspiciously by taking the first game on his own serve in love. Flagg won the second game, after it had gone to duce by coming up to the net and getting a nice placement shot. He then broke through Hendrie's serve in the third game after a bitter rally and seemingly impossible get by both men. The fourth game was easily won by Flagg due to errors by his opponent. The fifth game went to deuce six times, but was finally won by Hen-

TICKET SALES FOR ANNUAL COLLEGE COURSE COMPLETED

Reservations May Be Made Friday Evening at Cushman's.

BYRD'S LECTURE IS SEPARATE PROGRAM

Barrere Little Symphony Opens the Course October 31.

Sale of tickets by students for the Entertainment Course ended today. Students made their cash returns this afternoon and a large number of tickets have been sold.

All those possessing full course tickets may obtain their season reservations at Cushman's store Friday evening at seven o'clock. Such reservations are good for the entire season and seats cannot be changed when once reserved. Reservations on the half course tickets must be made before each separate entertainment, and may be made at Cushman's during the week previous to the program. Single admission tickets for each entertainment will be on sale at Cushman's the week preceding the program. Full and half course tickets will be also on sale there for any of those who have not yet purchased their tickets.

The entertainment committee has been very fortunate in shaping an all round program for the course. The Barrere Little Symphony Orchestra is first and gives its concert October 31. This orchestra was here two years ago and was well liked by all who attended the concert. Carola Goya will give a recital of Spanish dances Thursday, November 20 in the college gymnasium. The third entertainment is by Myra Hess, noted English pianist, who was scheduled for last season, but was unable to fulfill the engagement due to the illness of her mother. January 13 and March 10 are the two dates set for Cornelia Otis Skinner and Guglielmo Ferrero respectively.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd has also been secured to lecture, but this will not be a part of the regular entertainment course. Tickets for this program will be placed on sale quite some time in advance, further announcement of which will be made at a later date.

saving much time in the final production of the photographs. The three dollar deposit which is made at this time is deducted from the bill of the pictures.

Everyone is urged to make certain the time of his appointment and be prompt in arriving at Hepburn social hall so that no delays will be caused. Any member of the faculty or junior class who has failed to fill his allotted appointment should visit the photographer any time tomorrow and Mr. Vantine will oblige by taking the picture between scheduled appointments.

Because of previous appointments Mr. Vantine wil have to leave Middlebury at 12:30 Thursday. All students who have appointments scheduled for Thursday afternoon or evening are asked to report this afternoon, evening or sometime tomorrow morning. Because of the fact that Mr. Vantine has an assistant he finds that it is possible to take more pictures than one every ten minutes.

Local Golfer Shoots Hole in One at Country Club

Walter J. Nelson '32, prominent athlete, recently joined the hole-in-one club at the Middlebury Country club. Nelson made the seventh hole in one well played iron shot. He was playing in a foursome at the time of the feat.

Elect Glenna Bump.

Glenna Bump '34, was recently elected freshman representative to the Middlebury Christian Association.

Last year the membership rose to 400 and this year the goal is 500. Due to the large enrollment expected it will be necessary to present the productions twice as was done last season. Six groups of one act plays and three long ones will be presented.

From time to time members will be called upon to assist in production work, and although it cannot be promised to all, an earnest endeavor will be made to use as many as possible.

drie, the last point being won on a service ace.

The sixth game was a battle and was by far the most exciting game of the set and ended when Hendrie erred at the net. But he won his next service in love. Flagg served remarkably to win the eighth game and put him in the lead 5-3 and it seemed as if the set would end shortly. Hendrie would not accept defeat so easily and staged an exciting rally, after being down 40-15, to win the ninth game. He then broke his opponent's service in the tenth game for the first time in the set to put the score at five all.

The eleventh game was bitterly fought and Hendrie finally won by a placement shot past Flagg as the latter rushed to the net; this gave Hendrie the lead at 6-5 and was the first and only time that he was in the lead. Flagg had but little difficulty taking the twelfth game to put the score at 6-6. He then broke through Hendrie's service in the thirteenth game to take a 7-6 lead. Hendrie retaliated by breaking through his opponent's service after the game had gone to set point twice and the score stood 7-7. But he tired and Flagg easily took game to resume his lead. Hendrie made a desperate try to even matters in the sixteenth but to no avail and Flagg won the first set 9-7.

Hendrie again took the lead in the second set by winning the first two games rather easily. Flagg then proceeded to win three straight games, each of them going to deuce, lost the fifth game, then ended the set by taking the next three. In this set Flagg's play at the net was outstanding, while Hendrie showed a fast and accurate service which gave him several aces.

The last set was hard fought despite the toll that the previous two sets had taken on their energy. Flagg took the first game at love and added the second after a very bitter fight, the game going to deuce many times, each man making several fine recoveries. Hendrie took the third game easily, through his excellent service. The fourth game proved to be the longest of the match, sixteen points being necessary before won, as a result of an error by Hendrie. This set game proved to be the undoing of Hendrie as Flagg easily ran off the next three games to win set 6-1 and match.

There was a large representation of underclassmen to cheer their respective classmates. It is the first time in many years that a freshman has held the men's tennis championship and the good showing they made in the tournament gives promise that they will be varsity material next spring.

the best pictures of a mixture of squalor and beauty, art and filth which is typical at the homes and studios of many of our greatest artists.

The books gives us an excellent picture of a certain phase of metropolitan life today, but for some unknown reason it does not ring true. We shall look for much better books from the House of King in the future.

Somehow or other we overlooked the journals of Havelock Ellis when we mentioned the outstanding fall books a week or so ago. They will be published by Houghton Mifflin Co., shortly under the title "Fountain of Life".

Percival Wren's newest novel, a crimer called "The Mysterious Waye" will be published by Stokes this month.

Golf and Tennis Open Intramural Competition

Competition for the intramural trophies began last week with the playing off of the first rounds of the golf and tennis tournaments.

In the tennis matches played to date, Beta Kappa was defeated by Delta Kappa Epsilon; Kappa Delda Rho was defeated by Alpha Sigma Phi; Sigma Phi Epsilon was defeated by Delta Upsilon. Beta drew a bye and Chi Psi vs. Neutral match is unplayed as yet.

The entire first round of the golf competition has been played off. Chi Psi defeated the Neutrals; Kappa Delta Rho defeated Beta Kappa; Delta Kappa Epsilon defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon; Delta Upsilon defeated Alpha Sigma Phi.

FRESHMEN LOSE TO CLARKSON TECH.

Second Half.

Clarkson kicked off to Middlebury, and Anderson ran the ball back to his own twenty-five yard line. The Midd frosh were unable to gain, and Williams finally kicked to Clarkson's thirty-five yard line. Clarkson began another of their marches, but were finally forced to kick over Middlebury's goal line from the Panther's thirty-five yard line. Middlebury kicked after trying a few unsuccessful end runs, and Clarkson took the ball on Midd's forty-five yard line. Two end runs and a pass brought the pig skin to Middlebury's thirty yard line, but the Panther line held on the fourth down and it was Middlebury's ball. Again the Panther backs were unable to make any yardage, and Williams kicked to Clarkson's forty yard line. Clarkson carried the ball to the Middlebury twenty-five yard line on four plays. Clarkson scored their third and last touchdown on a pass, Hutterman to Patruski. Patruski drop kicked the point after touchdown. Score, Clarkson Tech froch 19, Middlebury 0.

For the remainder of the game neither side was able to prove especially dangerous. The Clarkson backs continually tore off long gains, but the blue and white managed to hold at the crucial moment, and William's toe kept his team out of danger. As the game ended, Middlebury had opened a successful passing attack that had brought the ball from their own thirty yard line to Clarkson's thirty-five yard line.
